

Protecting MY phone number, which I PAY monthly for should not be a debatable issue. If I stated that I DO NOT want unsolicited phone calls, that should be respected. I'm glad that my state of NJ has one of the toughest Do Not Call laws. Telemarketers are free to use the USPS to mail their information to my home where it can join the rest of our recycling. In fact, if they call my home, that is what they will be directed to do. It is ridiculous that the rights to privacy of citizens in America is being challenged by corporate America. Give me a list of the home phone numbers for the CEOs of all the telemarketing companies so that I can call them during their dinner time and let them know how I feel. Until that happens, leave me alone!!!
